

Revista Agrária Acadêmica® (ISSN 2595-3125 / DOI 10.32406) publishes regional, national and international works that have not yet been published, nor have they been sent to other journals for the same purpose. The articles must be written in Portuguese (Spanish or English) and sent to the Agrarian Academic Journal electronically, directly to the e-mail of the Journal (agrariacad@gmail.com). The body of the e-mail sent must include the type of work being submitted (Review Articles, Scientific Articles, Continuing Education, Case Reports, Prior Note and Communication).

Papers must have the following specifications: page A4, font Times New Roman, body 12, line between 1,5, with 2cm of top, bottom, left and right.

1. Papers should contain up to 20 pages, including bibliographic references

1.1. Inform full address, phone and email for future contact.

2. Papers written in the following languages: Spanish, English and Portuguese will be accepted.

3. Submission of papers

3.1. Title and identification of the author(s)

3.1.1 Full title of the article in CAPITAL LETTER: in bold, centered and font size 12. Title in full English of the article in lowercase: centralized and font size 12.

3.1.2 Full name of the author(s) (in full and only the CAPITAL ENROLLMENT): aligned to the left, font size 12, with indication for footnote.

3.1.3 In the footnote, there must be scientific affiliation, in the following order: Department, Institute or Faculty, University - INITIALS - CITY / STATE - COUNTRY and electronic address, font size 10.

3.1.4 There should be one line space between the title and the identification data of the author(s),

3.1.5 All subtitles must be left-aligned, bold, and font size 12.

3.2. Abstract

Summary of a maximum of 110 words with up to five keywords (terms or expressions that identify the content of the work). The title, abstract and keywords should be in the language of the text. The body of the text belonging to the abstract should be in spacing between single lines and font size 10. The following should include the Abstract and Keywords, in the same way as the abstract.

3.3. Body of text

3.3.1 Subtitles highlighted in bold, in the same body of the text, aligned to the left.

3.3.2 Text containing, whenever possible:

a) Introduction (with objectives and methodology);

b) Development (body of text, Material and Methods, Results and Discussion);

c) Conclusion or Final Considerations and References.

Note: Articles that, by author's preference, do not have the structure contained in this item will not be excluded.

3.3.3 The entire body of the text must be in spacing 1.5, always containing the space of a line between the subheadings and the text.

3.3.4 Footnotes should, as far as possible, be included in the body of the text.

3.3.5 Tables and graphs shall be sequentially numbered in Arabic numerals and headed by their respective headings.

3.3.6 Photographs and illustrations may be colored and should be inserted into the body of the text, numbered sequentially, and with legends immediately after the image.

3.3.7 References in the body of the text should be made by the author's surname, in parentheses and separated by comma from the date of publication and the page(s) used for both direct and indirect citation. Ex: (SOUZA, 1998, p 129). If the author's name is quoted in the text, the date and pagination between parentheses should be added.

For example, "SOUZA (2016, p.27) points out ...". Quotations of several works by the same author, published in the same year, should be broken down by alphabetical order after the date, without spacing (SOUZA, 1988a, 1989b). When the work has up to three authors, these should be separated by a semicolon (SOUZA; SOUZA, 2000). In the case of three or more, the first is indicated, followed by the expression "et al". (SANTOS et al., 2017).

Literal quotations, with more than three lines, should follow this model, with text between single lines, font size 11, with quotation marks followed by the author's reference, with name, date and page referring to "(SOUZA, 2001, p. 38).

3.3.8 Appendices and / or Appendices will only be included when essential for understanding the text.

3.3.9 Lines should NOT be numbered.

4. References

4.1 Bibliographical references should be listed at the end of the paper, in the alphabetical order of the author's surname.

5. Works that do not comply with these formatting standards will be returned to the author(s); and may be redone and presented at another time.

6. Cases not provided for in these Rules shall be resolved by the Editorial Board of the Journal.

7. Submission of manuscripts

The sending of the articles must be done directly to the e-mail agrariacad@gmail.com. Information about the payment of the publication fee will be sent to the author for correspondence. Once the process is finished, the article will be sent for publication in the corresponding monthly edition. Once submitted, the works are confidential until their publication.
